PREFACE

The digital volumes of the New Hanover County Slave Deeds are a searchable database of slave transactions from 1734 through 1846 for New Hanover County, North Carolina (the county included what is now Pender and Brunswick Counties). This volume of the database is a continuation of a multi-volume database, New Hanover County Slave Deeds Project. The handwritten deed books used to prepare the database are located in the archives of the New Hanover County Register of Deeds at Wilmington, North Carolina. Dr. James C. Burke of the Humanities Department at Cape Fear Community College, Wilmington, North Carolina directed the project. This volume of the New Hanover County Slave Deeds database was completed on September 27, 2013.

The EXCEL file accompanying this volume has additional data fields: 1) a note field containing the exact language from the deeds, familial information as the slaves were listed, as well as location differences within the same owner documents, 2) an amount field, 3) an implied gender field containing the actual gender when stated, and when not specified an implied gender from the text, 4) an aged field for when there was an age written, 5) an occupation field for when an occupation was written, 6) a document type field to explain the type of document in the deed book, i.e. bill of sale, last will and testament, gift, etc., 7) an additional information field of the terms used to describe the slave (including archaic terminology).

The Cape Fear Region has an extensive record of slave transactions since the area was settled in the 1720's. Many of the family names were found with various spellings; therefor the Chronicles of the Cape Fear River, 1660-1916 by James Sprunt was used by the researchers as a secondary source for standard spellings of many well-known names in the region.

This project was born from a conversation between Tammy Theusch Beasley, Register of Deeds for New Hanover County and Dr. James C. Burke of the Humanities Department at Cape Fear Community College in Wilmington, North Carolina. Ms. Beasley made Dr. Burke aware that Buncombe County, North Carolina, had created a database of slave transactions. They both immediately saw the incredible significance a project like that would have on New Hanover County. With the combined cooperation of the New Hanover County Register of Deeds and the Humanities & Fine Arts Department, Cape Fear Community College, this project was set into motion.
